Yes, it does have a write protect slider on the side but this is NOT the issue here. Some have suggested putting tape around the card to make sure that the slider thing does not slip into write protect mode when inserting the card but this issue is from some kind of software setting - not a hardware write protect tab.

You can redact for free using Foxit Reader. Just highlight the text OR draw a rectangle over the text (both options are in the Home menu). Right click on the text/rectangle, click properties, and set the two color boxes to black (two b/c the colors are for the border and the middle of the rectangle), and save those color selections as the default so you don't have to do that again.

Keystroke logging, often referred to as keylogging or keyboard capturing, is the action of recording (logging) the keys struck on a keyboard, typically covertly, so that person using the keyboard is unaware that their actions are being monitored. Data can then be retrieved by the person operating the logging program. A keylogger can be either software or hardware.
